Dear Licensees:

Alabama is commemorating its 200th birthday this year! Beauty, history and I hope you are continuing to enjoy editions of American Wine and Spirits and are finding the information beneficial to your business. The Board, our employees and I, realize that you are essential to our success and hope that our services and products are meeting your needs. We are very happy to announce the launch of SANA, a new online ordering service for licensees. The new site is an intuitive and updated platform that offers many new options when ordering products. Some of the updates include: real-time inventory, running spend totals, easy product search, auto saved orders, ordering directly from our wholesale warehouse and setting pick up dates. We have launched in two test markets and have enjoyed great success so far. Our 13-week launch schedule should provide for full access to all licensees by the printing of this price book.

To make sure each of you are enjoying the new site to the fullest, our Product Management and Information Technology departments have joined forces to hold live webinars for customers and supplemented those with online training websites. The first iteration of the site allows for ordering from any store in the state and offers access to all inventory at the store you choose. We hope to add many more options in the future. We truly appreciate your patronage and hope this new site makes your ordering process more enjoyable and more effective. Customer service remains a top priority and I encourage you to contact my office if you have any questions or need assistance.

While we continue to make improvements in our efficiency and product managements practices, I am especially proud of our public awareness and education efforts. Since August of last year, our school-based "Under Age - Under Arrest" anti-underage drinking program has been presented a record 75 times to more than 26,000 middle, junior and senior high students. When the 2018-2019 school year ends in late May, we expect to reach more than 100 programs presented to approximately 35,000 students. I'm delighted that our program has been so heavily requested and warmly received by Alabama educators, I can't help but be sad that so many of our schools have identified underage drinking as such a problem. We strive to maintain a high degree of service and education. At the same time, with your help, we provide significant revenues for the ultimate benefit of our citizens. Last fiscal year, after all the ABC Board's expenses were paid, over $270 million was distributed to the State's General Fund and to other various agencies. The Alabama ABC Board is pleased with its achievement of producing another record year of sales and looks forward to continued success in the years to come.

I would like to take the opportunity to wish everyone a safe and happy summer and to remind you to sell, serve and celebrate responsibly.

Sincerely,

H.M. Gipson

TEQUILA ON THE RISE

BY JACK ROBERTIELLO

Note: This excerpt is printed with permission from the March/April 2018 issue of StateWays—the Beverage Alcohol Merchandising Magazine for Control States.

WHEN YOU CAN SELL TWICE AS MUCH as you have, you can be sure what you've got is hot.

“Tequila is growing fastest at the upscale end, as premiumization is extremely active here for all Mexican spirits,” says Jill Palais, senior brand manager of the William Grant and Sons Mexican portfolio of Milagro tequila, Montelobos mezcal, and Ancho Reyes cordials.

As the reputation of the agave spirit improves, efforts by suppliers to further burnish the attraction continues, with everything from contemporary and stylish packaging to new products (especially those with longer aging). Helping to drive growth, retailers say, is the female consumer.

“More and more women are calling for tequila. You saw that with bourbon right before it skyrocketed, and it shows it's not just an old boy's drink anymore. I see more women (and more young women) come in educated about the category,” says Mat Dinsmore, general manager at Wilbur's Total Beverage in Fort Collins, Colorado.

Zak Romaya, who owns Old Town Liquor in San Diego, sees new consumers to the category discovering sweeter, richer expressions, especially aged variants, which are sweeter than traditional tequilas. He also sees the steady growth among pricey aged expressions.

David Marberger, owner of Bay Ridge Wine and Spirits in Annapolis, says that much of the interest in the tequila business is in line extensions. “For so long it was blanco, reposado, and añejo from Patron and many other brands, but now they've come out with their upper marques, which have made a difference.”

Cristalino, an emerging new tequila expression, is a mix of various ages that are then filtered until clear. The result is said to provide some of the rounded and creamy qualities of aged tequila with the freshness of blancos. The hope, according to Beth Krigel, senior brand manager of Hornitos Tequila, is that cristalino will break open the category.

Hello! ALABAMA

DREAD RIVER DISTILLING COMPANY COMING 2019

“A life well lived will not live itself” quotes Birmingham’s new and incipient distillery, Dread River Distilling Company. By the end of 2019, this company will be the latest bold and elegant craft not just to 7th Avenue south but to your glass as well. Owners John Cubelic and Dr. Jefferey Dugasto gave us an inside look into the raw ideas of their tasting room and distillery that will contribute as a staple in Alabama distilling.

Dread River has plans to open with a plethora of products: bourbon, vodka, gin, rum, and a blended whiskey. In addition to the wide selection of spirits, they also have plans to open with a wide selection of craft beers. These products will be available in the Bar /tasting gallery that is being developed in the building connected to the distillery at 2400 7th Avenue South next to Birmingham Breadworks.

Creative marketing and merchandising efforts can drive a category. "Off-premise continues to be a critical channel to reach and recruit tequila drinkers, and we see the brand thriving across all our retail partners. On the operational side, retailers continue to seek programming that will add value for consumers, enticing them to add more items in their basket," says Christine Moll, Campari America category marketing director for tequila.

"People are not afraid to experiment, and there is demand from the consumer for something new, exciting, different, and boutique-y," says Dinsmore. "They may not go to $100 on something they aren't familiar with, but they are more willing in the $50 to $60 range."

THINK MARGARITAS!

Keep riding the ever-popular margarita cocktail wave to boost your tequila sales!

Born of the lush, volcanic soil of the tequila valley, Próspero is the pinnacle of tequila, crafted by one of the few female master distillers, Stella Anguiano. Stella has been crafting tequila in Jalisco for thirty years. She has perfected her craft with Próspero Tequila, from the roasting of agave hearts to hand selecting the spirit's final cut.

"Próspero is a tequila that embodies the power of the female spirit. This is a tequila made by a woman for all women to enjoy," says Anguiano. "As one of the first females in this industry, it is important for me to create something that other women can appreciate."

The essence of Próspero our blanco tequila is the fire expression of 100% blue agave grown in the lowlands of Jalisco. Clear, soft and bright with notes of spice, our unnamed tequila blanco drinks elegantly over ice, yet is soulful enough to stand out in a cocktail.

The Bar and event space will be a work of art that is carefully curated to fit a classy and elegant, yet approachable atmosphere for any person. This space does not fall short on space itself being 24,500 square feet, it offers a multitude of Private areas, hosting everything from small functions to large weddings. Cubelic hopes for Dread River to be a relaxed space for all individuals to mingle.

“Birmingham is experiencing a renaissance, and we wanted to be a part of it; to build on a foundation that had been (painstakingly) laid before us. We are excited for the opportunity to bring something truly unique to Birmingham and play our part in the city’s growth and redevelopment.”

THE American Way

Made in the USA, domestic vodka celebrates range and diversity.

BY THOMAS HENRY STRENK

Note: This excerpt is printed with permission from the September/October 2018 issue of StateWays—the Beverage Alcohol Merchandising Magazine for Control States.

Domestic vodka, like America itself, is diverse, with distinct DNA for each brand. Lately, American-made vodka has lots to celebrate. The quality is there, sales are up, and brands are proliferating—sea to shining sea.

“Recently, American vodka brands have stepped up their game and have been focusing on distillation, quality of original ingredients, and the care put into production,” says Michael Sachs, director of marketing for E.&J. Gallo Winery, parent of the New Amsterdam brand.

“Over the past few years, a number of American distilleries have cropped up and created a renewed interest in American-made spirits,” says Ryan Robertson, brand manager for American Anthem Vodka, the latest entrant in Diageo’s vodka portfolio. “The game has really changed for consumers in terms of domestics versus imports.”

While the TTB (Alcohol and Tobacco Tax and Trade Bureau) defines vodka as “neutral spirits without distinctive character, aroma, taste, or color,” that doesn’t do the American spirit justice. Each brand offers nuances in aroma and flavor, as distillers imprint their own stamp on the white spirit. And beyond the specifics of ingredients, distillation, and filtration processes, a brand’s DNA can embrace such intangibles as a pride of place and a sense of community.

“While American vodkas may differ in terms of the materials they are made from, what really defines them is the true American entrepreneurial spirit and how they reflect the person who created them or where they are from,” says Melanie Batchelor, VP of marketing for Campari America. “That’s opposed to many international vodkas, which are motivated by tradition or process.” Key to Skyy vodka’s DNA, she adds, is that it was founded in San Francisco by a first-generation American who also happened to be an inventor.

“The lines between domestic and imported vodkas have blurred,” says Sachs. “There has been an extraordinary shift of Americans purchasing domestic vodkas over the past decade. Americans recognize that they can find quality domestic vodkas that can compete with imported vodkas across many price points.”

“Consumers are becoming more interested in the authenticity and story behind brands,” says Lauren Cherry, communications manager for Heaven Hill Brands. Deep Eddy’s brand story has an authentic Austin heritage and portrays a unique American lifestyle. Burnett’s Vodka is a quintessential family-owned and—operated company.

“Historically, there has always been a comparison to Russian vodka, but I think these ideas are fading with the millennial generation,” says Lyndsey Reimers, brand manager at Phillips Distilling, whose portfolio includes Prairie Organic and UV vodka brands. “As with all things, ‘Made in the USA’ carries a strong point of difference.”

“Brands that focus on their American heritage are a sub-segment that is leading the growth of vodka,” Robertson says. “We wanted to leverage the fact that American-made was a big interest in the category, as well as a value proposition—to create a broadly appealing vodka that was authentically American-made and that offered premium quality and great value to consumers.”

“We couldn’t be prouder to be distilled in America, and we lean into our American heritage in everything we do,” says Batchelor.

“Smirnoff is proud to be made in America since 1934, and we proudly emphasize our American heritage in the brand story and marketing efforts,” says marketing director Nakhil Shah.

A few American-themed vodka brands take the additional step of lending a helping hand to military personnel and veterans, and Phillips Distilling Co. proudly supports veteran employment initiatives.

When it comes to adding new expressions and flavors, each brand goes its own way. Some focus strictly on the 80-proof original, while others are busy adding to flavor portfolios. “Given the saturated flavored vodka category, we decided to go the other direction and remove underperforming flavors and refocus on our core 10 flavors,” says Reimers.

“Our focus for the next year or so is driving distribution and awareness,” says Robertson. “Who knows what the future holds in terms of line extensions or flavors.”

CELEBRATE AMERICA

Take advantage of the Memorial Day, Fourth of July, and Labor Day holidays to highlight American-made vodkas. Share the story behind each vodka, including who established the company, where the spirit is produced, what ingredients are used and where they come from, and other interesting details.

Suggest your customers try sipping several vodkas over ice to fully enjoy their unique tastes. Also encourage them to splash vodka into lemonade, fruit juice, and carbonated beverages and use them in their shooters as well as their favorite summertime cocktails.

Born of the lush, volcanic soil of the tequila valley, Próspero is the pinnacle of tequila, crafted by one of the few female master distillers, Stella Anguiano. Stella has been crafting tequila in Jalisco for thirty years. She has perfected her craft with Próspero Tequila, from the roasting of agave hearts to hand selecting the spirit's final cut.

“Próspero is a tequila that embodies the power of the female spirit. This is a tequila made by a woman for all women to enjoy,” says Anguiano. “As one of the first females in this industry, it is important for me to create something that other women can appreciate.”

The essence of Próspero our blanco tequila is the fire expression of 100% blue agave grown in the lowlands of Jalisco. Clear. soft and bright with notes of spice, our unnamed tequila blanco drinks elegantly over ice, yet is soulful enough to stand out in a cocktail.
